

Tim Keefe - Capital Chemist Group Systems Manager

Tim joined the Capital Chemist Group in December 2003. He got a job photocopying and filing in Head Office. His original job description was “whatever was required at the time” and as time went on that is still the case!

“I like it here; since I’ve had my family over the last few years it is evident the work/life balance is engrained in the Capital Chemist way. They’ve been very supportive, the group give all staff a real sense of belonging.”

Tim notices the powerful and worthy community efforts the group participates in every year and acknowledges how amazing these are.

“I’m not even surprised when we do a something good for the community anymore, it’s normal and it’s just what we do. I would be more surprised if we weren’t doing anything”.

Tim has been a part of the group long enough to see that how the group has grown over the years and the huge amount of positive change that has gone on to when he first started.
